

How to train a dragon

Harvey P Y3

Tarray and his brother got a dragon for their B-day. But they didn't thing about training it then came the time ^{where} they had to train it so they started. But the dragon was so pesty but they didn't now what to feed the dragon so they got as the time was ^{like} tick tick tick tick. They got a good idea flaming rocks and spraying the dragon with it. But the hard bit making the dragon breed them and hurt intruders. You thing that was hard we had to get the same you don't thing that's hard it was. A few days later Tarray and Tash finally got used to training the dragon and got it good at riding it and it got easier and easier. But one night a army of people intruded but didn't know that they had a dragon. The dragon was trained really well so it kept the edge to pieces and stander at the door. The intruders opened the door and said oh no oh no and ran and Tarray and Tash's never scare them again. But Tarray and Tash didn't stop training the dragon because it was so fun. The next day they named the dragon and it's name was Toothless. The next day they went hunting and found a newer dragon. It was the same size as Toothless they wanted it. Toothless saw her and it was like a shadow not as a harmful thing but as a bring. The next day they took Toothless and hilly yes that's her name and they took them for a flight and then did it again.
