Dear Parents and carers

We've jumped straight back into the deep-end this week with our learning and the children have really applied themselves well. In maths we have been looking at multiply by multiples of 10, a concept that the children have appeared to grasp well. In English, we have started to look at the composition of myths and legends and the class even had a go at writing their own. In Geography we have begun to look at Fairtrade and what natural resources are used for around the world. Our new class text for the half term is, 'The Girl of Ink and Stars' and the class appear to have found it an exciting read so far.
